

REALMS OF DR. CHAOS.

~ SHADOWS OF MARS ~

FOR HERETIC

Made By Impie

(mikemacdee at yahoo)

Made for GZDOOM

Check out my other stuff at Mikestoybox.net

SHADOWS OF MARS

Mickey Chaos almost had to run to keep up with his mother, Brenda, as she stampeded up the hall to the study of her other son, Dr. Chaos. Her bun was already unraveling from stress and fury, and Mickey could hear her teeth grinding like billiard balls. He almost felt sorry for his demented brother.

Now nursing his third drink, Dr. Chaos didn't have the opportunity to greet his mother when she burst into the room.

"YOU SENT YOUR BABY SISTER INTO OUTER SPACE?" she howled.

Dr. Chaos held up his hands to protect his face, backing away from the fuming woman. "It's not as simple as that, Mom."

"It never is," sighed Mickey, reflecting on the many inter-dimensional excursions his mad scientist brother had subjected him to in the past.

Brenda took a few deep breaths. She straightened her hair. She folded her arms and allowed her temper to simmer. "Mortimer," she finally said, "I'll give you sixty seconds to explain what's happened to my daughter, and what in hell you intend to do about it. Then I'm going to tear your head clean off your shoulders."

Dr. Chaos swallowed. Mickey folded his arms and waited, tapping his late father's cane on the carpet.

"Look, Mom," said the doctor. "Didi is precocious and easily bored. Ever since she got the right to vote, she's been more of a spitfire than ever. She's bored of the parties, the dancing, the endless drunken adventures with countless suitors overseas. Nothing excites my little sister anymore, so the prospect of visiting another planet intrigued her.

"After I made a few refinements to my Flux Accelerator, she accompanied me on an excursion to ancient Mars, a time before the planet was reduced to a barren desert. We had a little trouble with the locals, and they took the time batteries that powered the thing. It's 'running on fumes' now, you might say, and only has enough juice for a

Visit these EXOTIC LOCATIONS in DR. CHAOS: SHADOWS OF MARS

KILLING FIELDS OF KARAMOON. This deadly martian valley is where you will find the Flux Accelerator and your stranded sister Didi. It acts as a hub between the other three regions, and is overrun with every foul creature you can imagine. Stock up on weapons and artifacts before entering its host of portals.

CASTLE DIREDRAKE. This macabre stronghold is home to a cult of mad wizards and serpent women who feed their visitors to their loathsome serpent deity. Within its Escher-esque halls is the Blue Key you will need to complete your quest.

MARTIAN UNDERWORLD. The less civilized beings of Mars lurk in these sprawling subterranean caverns, where they bottle the blood of unfortunate surface dwellers. If you can navigate this labyrinthine dungeon, you may find the Green Key that leads to another Time Battery.

DESOLIS. This once proud city is now a giant, crumbling mausoleum filled with bloodthirsty mummies and other subhuman wretches. Its massive walls and devious traps protect a hoard of valuable treasures and artifacts, including the Yellow Key. So they say. No one has ever lived long enough to prove it.

